FOREWORD

Everything has a beginning.

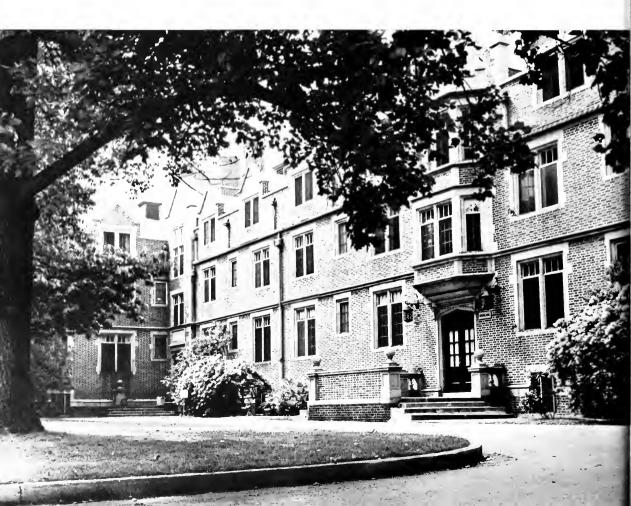

Our beginning was simply entitled; "Freshmen."

From that state of instability, we progressed to the second level, and, being Sophomores, realized the law of survival of the fittest.

Then we were Juniors:

We had our second wind, and the end was not so very far away. Now we are Seniors, the reminiscences begin . . .

THE COLLEGE. . .

"It is the objective of the State Teachers College at Towson to offer a broad educational program which will fit its graduates to become intelligent, active citizens and effective members of the teaching profession."

As we, the graduates, begin to tell our story, we think of the many memorable occasions, the varied activities and the cherished friends which have been ours during the past four years. For all of these we are grateful; yet, at this time, we realize that our years have given us more than just rich memories of pleasurable activities.

Now we are graduates, and as we commence forward into new experiences and plan to meet new responsibilities, we glance back to recall what "our college" has done to prepare us to live with our students, with our superiors, with our friends, with our families and with ourselves.

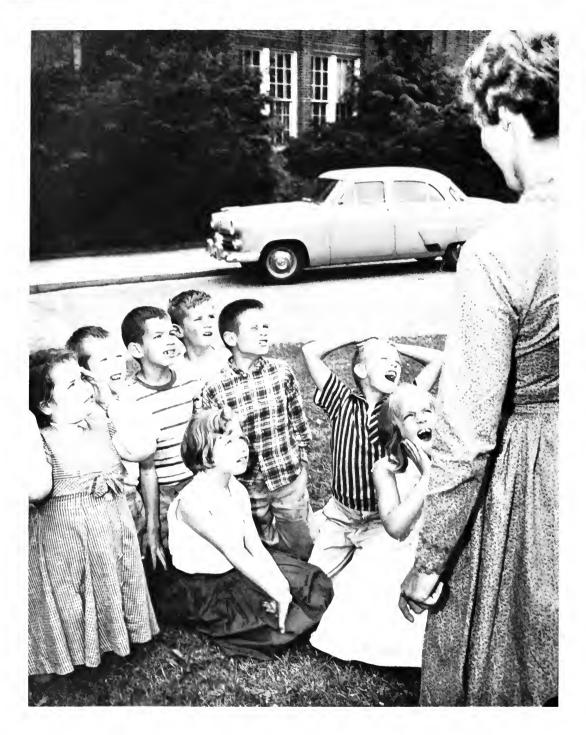

Our college has developed in us an increasing maturity which is manifest in our . . .

... acceptance of responsibilities ...

... insight into the teaching profession ...

 \dots realization of the effect and influence we, as teachers, have upon children \dots

... appreciation of the close and lasting friendships with people having similar interests and goals . . .

 \dots development of a foundation upon which to build a more meaningful life.

administration

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins

PRESIDENT

A president of a college must not only possess administrative powers but he should be an inspiring teacher and friend to those he leads. We here at Towson are fortunate to have as our president a man who possesses such qualities. Dr. Earle T. Hawkins is able to successfully carry out his endeavors at Towson because of his sincere interest in and ambition for the betterment of our college. Under his able leadership, our college is progressing both physically and scholastically.

DEANS

MISS ORRIELLE MURPHY Dean of Students

Beginning her work of counseling the students in the same year that this graduating senior class began at Towson, Dean Murphy has exhibited daily her sincere interest in helping each individual student.

KENNETH A. BROWNE Dean of Instruction

As Dean of Instruction, Dr. Browne effectively serves as chairman of the committee of admissions and standards, and the council of department heads. He does research in areas of curriculum development, and works with the registrar's office in preparing class and examination schedules.

DR. REBECCA TANSIL Director of Admissions

Through Dr. Tansil's sincerity and friendliness, many prospective students receive their first impression of our college. We have only to know her to see that she exemplifies the friendly spirit prevailing at State Teachers College.

In order to become a qualified teacher, one must have both theoretical and practical experiences. Towson State Teachers College carries through this philosophy by giving its students actual classroom experiences in the Campus School. Lida Lee Tall Elementary School, located behind the Administration Building, serves the purpose of allowing future teachers to observe methods of teaching and to later practice these methods during the Student Teaching program. The Campus School also gives excellent elementary training to the children enrolled in the school.

THE LIBRARY

The library at Towson is designed to meet the needs of the students in their academic and professional life at college. The experienced staff effectively handles the problems that the students meet in their research and study. Headed by Miss Reeder, the staff includes: (front row) Merle Yoder, Dorothy Reeder, Ellen Smith, (back row) Bernice Cox, Mildred Whitefore, Ruth Hazard, Jean Milnor.

The library affords us the opportunity for quiet study, for obtaining teaching materials and for increasing our understandings and knowledge.

OFFICES

PRESIDENT'S OFFICE

The President's Office does a great service for the college and particularly for the faculty. Here we find skilled secretaries who are responsible for the President's secretarial work, as well as for the faculty and the college in general.

REGISTRAR'S OFFICE

The registrar's office is another behind-the-scenes team. This office handles pre-registration and registration for classes, prepares class and examination schedules, sends out semester grades to students, sends out official transcripts to the Maryland State Department of Education after graduation, and keeps a permanent file of students' records.

BUSINESS OFFICE

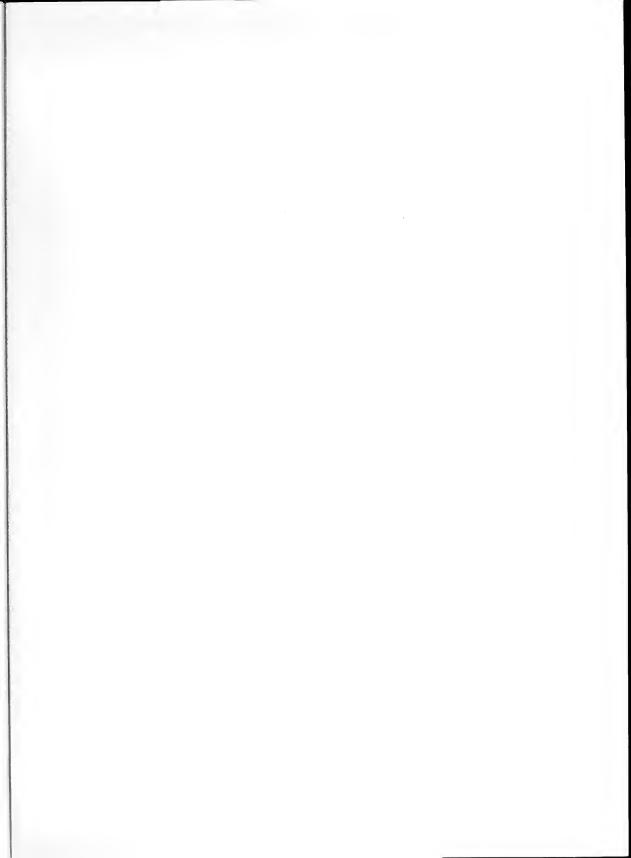

The Business Office of STC serves the purpose of carrying through the many business transactions and purchases which make the environment at Towson more desirable for students and faculty. This behind the scenes organization has a great deal of responsibility in our ever expanding college community.

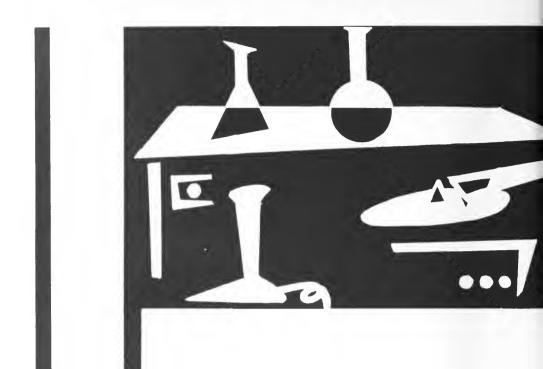

ADMISSIONS OFFICE

Prospective Towson students receive their first impressions of Towson through this administrative office. Here, applicants are interviewed, screened, and given special guidance.

Class

This year ushered in a new class to the Towson Campus, the Class of 1960. The Freshmen were introduced to the campus during Freshmen Week sponsored by the F.A.C. The beginning of the year was a whirl of teas, parties, meetings and anxieties.

The first official function of the class was its dance, "What's Behind the Green Door," which proved to be a tremendous success. Next on the agenda, with only a two week interval, was the assembly, "Manhattan Night" was one of the most successful Freshmen assemblies ever to be presented.

Much of the success of the class was due to its officers, Bill Fallowfield, president; Wally Yesenofski, vice-president: Barbara Strong, secretary; and Diana Renshaw, treasurer.

If this class continues in the same manner as its first year, we predict a very successful four year stay here on campus.

Returning in the fall as Sophomores, the class of '59 was out to set a record of outstanding achievements. "Seventh Heaven '57," the class assembly, topped their production of the previous year, and provided the college with an enjoyable evening's entertainment. Their dance, Sea Fever, proved to be another successful event in the log book of the Sophomore Class. The officers of the class include Mike De Vita, President; Paul King, Vice-President; Shirley Helwig, Secretary and Ruth Shaeffer, Treasurer.

The Juniors present, 'Dem Pearly Gates!

Beginning the college year, with their assembly, "Dem Pearly Gates," the class of 1958 showed that they were ready to begin this year as they never had before. Immediately after their assembly, plans were begun for the Christmas Dance which is traditionally sponsored by the Junior Class. This year's dance, entitled "Winter Waltz," was a tremendous success. Following the pattern set by the Junior Class of last year, gifts instead of corsages were requested and placed under the tree, to be distributed at Children's Hospital.

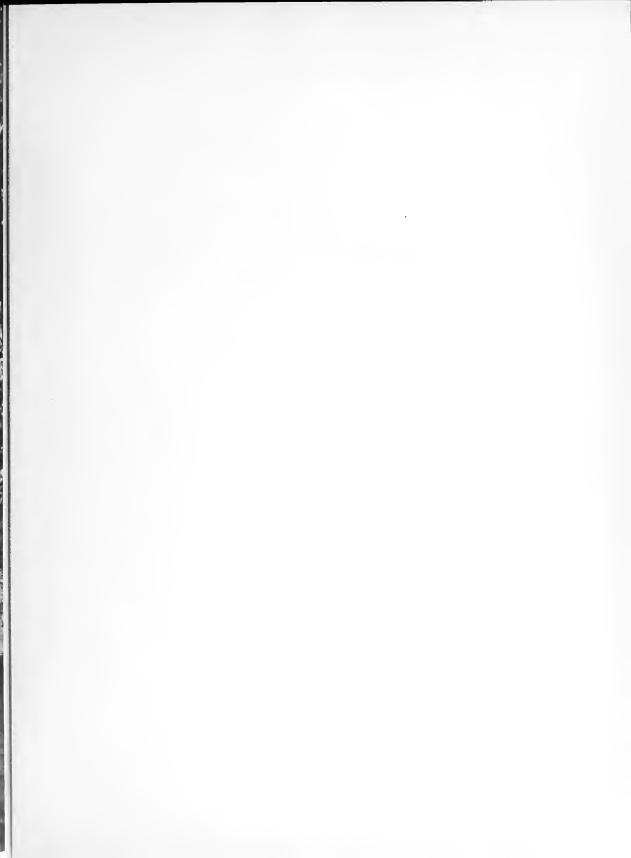

Among their other activities were parties for the other classes and beginning plans for the Senior Year. The officers of this year's class were John Williams, President; Nelson Bolender, Vice-President; Joan Archambault and Nancy Heime, Secretaries; and Jackie Meachem, Treasurer.

We wish the class of 1958 success in their Senior Year.

The main cog in the wheel of the S.G.A. is the executive committee. This group handles all business not executed in the Senate, It is composed of the officers and three members-al-large. On the committee are Shirley Thim, Joy Frizzell, Charlotte Stansfield, Peggy Mulligan, Steve Rohr (President), Bernie Hartman, Jim Binko, Ann Rogers, Janet Mahaley, and Lu Beth Bivens.

Money, it's distribution and consumption—this is the main purpose of the Finance Committee. Chaired by Lu Beth Bivens, S.G.A. Treasurer, the committee reviews the budget requests of the various organizations, and allocates each a certain sum of money to use during the year. The money in the S.G.A. fund is acquired through the activities fee paid by every student, The committee consists of Sue Finney, Carol Hayes, Lu Beth Bivens, Parker Koons, Ann Rogers and Bernie Hartman.

SPECIAL INTEREST

Tower Light Staff: E. Marenbloom, L. Penn, N. Craig, E. Poe, M. DeVita, L. Hutchins, J. Brown, meet a deadline.

The Tower Light, with Nancy Craig serving as its able editor, worked with an increased staff this year. Several new features introduced included an analysis column, which was concerned with world situations, a Senior Standouts feature and an In the Limelight column. Although most members of the staff were new this year, they strove to produce a better paper with a more up to date news page and more pictures for sports. The staff attempted to get more coverage by putting out special editions on the Leadership Conference and Homecoming.

The staff gathers in the Student Centre to discuss the next issue.

4H

The 4H Club, composed of students who will be teaching in farming communities, serves the college by preparing the Activities Bulletin Board each week, sponsoring a square dance, and keeping in touch with other 4Hers in the surrounding area. Newman, Jim Glass, Sabrina Voom, Marge Gross, Harriette Gampel, Lou Trusykowski, Joe Brown, and Ann Hanson.

S.C.A. Choir

Glee Club

Under the capable direction of Miss Hazel MacDonald, the Student Christian Association Choir sang at vespers, at the Christmas Assembly, at the Spring Festival, and at various church and local concerts. The choir's members are: (first row) L. Myers, V. Sorflaten, J. Simmons, J. Choate, C. Holmes, R. Spencer, P. Tascenberg, E. Gallagher, N. Ocker, (second row) A. Katenkamp, A. Webster, P. Stenger, G. Strube, Mr, John Duro (accompanist).

The Glee Club furnishes an excellent outlet for the musical inclinations of Towson students, besides performing a definite service to the college. The membership of this year's Glee Club is the largest to date. Ably led by Miss Emma Weyforth, the Glee Club performs at many college events such as the Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies, the Spring Festival, May Day and Commencement. It also sang at off-campus schools and churches and has recently set a precedent by making a recording to be played over the air on Christmas Eve.

Our thanks go to Miss Weyforth for her untiring efforts in moulding the group into the fine musical organization it is today. Row I: B. Sawyer, B. Weddle, C. Bowie, D. Corrieri, D. Wolf, Ken, M. SOCCER-1956

Towson's 1956 soccer team again finished in the runner-up spot in the Mason-Dixon Conference despite being the only undefeated team in the league. The Knights won six of their eight conference clashes, the other two ending in stalemates. In a jaunt outside the M-D realm the locals avenged their 1955 loss to Drexel by shutting out the Techmen, 1-0. This record extends their unbeaten record in conference games to 20, and overall they have suffered only one defeat in 27 games, covering a two and a half year period.

"Buckshot" Harman, All-American

Jim Gede blocks one for the alumni

Sparking the 1956 Knights were Buck Harman, who holds the single game season, and career scoring records, and Henry Lichtfuss, both All-American selections. Harman and Lichtfuss, along with Tom Beck, were also on the All-Conference Team. Picked on the second M-D team were Don Sudbrink (whom Coach Minnegan calls the greatest goalie ever to perform at Towson), Ed Humm, Jack Zimmerman, and Dick Clem.

Four of the Knights were also placed on Drexel's allopponent team, giving further proof of the outstanding caliher of this year's squad. Beck, Harman, Lichtfuss and Dave Yingling were honored by the Drexel eleven.

The class of 1957 can be very proud of Buck Harman, one of its members, for his scoring feats during his four year career. Buck holds the single game record of six goals, set against American University. He is also the holder of the single season record of 17 goals, and the career record of 57 goals. It will probably be many years, maybe never, before any one person can break Buck's amazing record.

The 1956 team may have finished second in the final conference standings, but in view of the many honors given Knight players it can easily be seen that the Knights certainly emerged as the "uncrowned champions" of the Mason Dixon Conference.

For the second consecutive year the Golden Knights failed in their attempt at winning a herth in the annual Mason-Dixon Tournament. It has been mentioned that other sports at the college experienced an off-year and the basketball squad proved no exception. With only one starter returning from the 1955-56 Quintet, it must be said that inexperience again took its toll in Towson sports.

Mike Kennedy was the only senior in Coach Killian's starting line-up when the whistle sounded for the first game. Others in the starting group were junior Henry Lichtfuss and freshmen Fred Arnold, Dave Eden, and Jerry Masemore. Mid-way through the campaign the team lost the services of Arnold, who left school to do church work. Another freshman. Bunky Hunt. took Arnold's place in the starting line-up. This first team was ably backed up by Tom McAuliffe, who saw considerable service, Skip Feldman, Dave King, Joe Tisher, and Max Friesland, who returned from military service in time to play the second half of the season.

The overall team record was eight wins and twelve defeats. The conference log stood at six wins and eight setbacks.

Top individual performers were Mike Kennedy and Henry Lichtfuss. Mike proved a capable back court man, with an excellent set-shot. Henry was the team's leading rebounder and scorer. Several other members of the squad turned in top-flight efforts, particularly the freshman members of the team.

Coach Killian can plan on having each of these boys back for next year's campaign with the exception of departing senior. Mike Kennedy, and Dave Eden, who is, as Arnold did, leaving to do church work.

Towson's Owings dominates Nordlinger of American U.

Bill "Snarff" Owings, undefeated two-time 137 lb. M-D champion

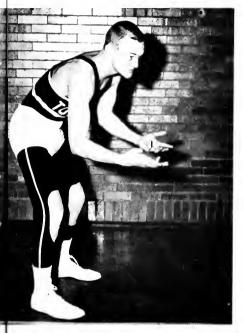

The sport of wrestling had a very modest beginning at Towson. In 1947, a group of boys, under the guidance of Mr. von Schwerdtner, entered the Mason-Dixon tournament. The following year the school entered a team in dual meets, and have been doing so each year since that time. In the ten years that wrestling has been a part of the inter-collegiate program, it has grown to be one of the most popular sports with the students. Our teams have also become highly respected around the conference, for the competence of the individuals, and the ability of the squad as a whole to win matches.

Not as great as its predecessor, the 1956-57 squad was, nonetheless, not wanting for individual champions. Bill Owings, a senior, and Dick Clem, a junior, retained their individual titles in the 1957 M-D Tournament. Bill stayed unbeaten to cop the 137-pound diadem, and Dick bested all opponents for the 167-pound trophy. Clem was also the only wrestler in the tournament to pin all of his opponents. Don Sudbrink was another team man undefeated in regular dual meets. Don, however, was handicapped by injuries the latter part of the season. Despite this handicap, he still managed to get to the finals of the tourney, where he lost a close 1-0 decision to Fred Frommelt, voted the outstanding grappler in the tournament.

Some of the other members of the squad showed well in the tournament. Among these would be Bob Callahan, a first-year wrestler, who took third place in the 157 pound division and showed great promise for the future; Jim Long, who garnered a fourth spot in the 123-pound class; and Alee Mytych, who substituted for the injured Don Reck, won a fourth place medal in the 130-pound division.

The team as a unit won four meets and dropped three. They took the measure of American University, Catholic University, Western Maryland, and Shippensburg (Pa.) Teachers. Meets were dropped to Gallaudet, Baltimore University, and Drexel. In the tournament the Golden Knights tied with Gallaudet for second place with a

Other team members beside those mentioned on previous page were Dave Stefansson, Chuck Raynor, John MacIsaac, Ray D'Amario, Lee Hughes, and Walt Dashiell.

The only seniors on the team were Bill Owings and Walt Dashiell. It will be difficult to replace these two boys, however, particularly Bill, who has been outstanding for two years. Don Sudbrink, a junior college sophomore, is planning to transfer to West Chester at the beginning of the next term. His departure will also leave a big hole. Despite these losses, one can still see a promising future for next year's squad. This, of course, is due to the number of top men who will answer Mr. Von's first call early next winter.

The long stretch.

A hard fast one.

Inability to replace two of his top power hitters, Frank Tondrick and Don Rollins, was the chief reason for the poor showing of the 1957 baseball team. Both Tondrick and Rollins were doing student teaching, leaving a tremendous vacancy for Coach Killian to fill.

Top individual performers for the squad were Bob Bowling, a consistent pitcher, Dick Clem, hard-hitting catcher, and Ed Humm, the versatile outfielder, infielder, and at times, pitcher. These three boys carried much of the load, offensively and defensively; and it must be comforting to Coach Killian to know that all three of them will put on Towson diamond togs again in 1958.

Other players who aided the big three just mentioned, were Perry Conley, who played an adequate third base: Elliot Owens, a good glove man but impotent with the bat; Jack Zimmerman, a hall-hawking outfielder: Skip Feldman, a good defensive first baseman; and Max Friesland, another starting pitcher. Friesland was troubled with a sore arm during much of the campaign, and this failure to return to his one time form was one of the major reasons for the team record.

The Knights were able to win just three games during the season. They split double-headers with Catholic and American Universities, and took the measure of Johns Hopkins. This triumph over Hopkins was the highlight of a somewhat gloomy season.

TENNIS

The 1957 tennis team, coached by Dr. John McCleary, had the best won-lost record of all the spring sports. The local netters won five of their 15 contests for a .333 average. This was accomplished despite the fact that many of the better performers were unavailable much of the time during the season. Many of the sets that were lost were only by one point; and it seems reasonable to feel that with all members on hand for eachengagement, the seasonal record might very well have been much better.

Top men on the team were Mort Pruce, number 1 player; Dudley Davis, number 2 man; Mike Kennedy; Bill Owings; Phil Kennedy; and Tom Hutchins. Pruce was the best performer in conference matches, and the steadiest performer on the team. Davis was plagued by a sprained ankle much of the time, but still managed to rack up ten wins against nine losses. Mike Kennedy, who teamed with Dudley Davis to form the best doubles combination, was hampered much of the season with a bad shoulder. Phil Kennedy was also hit by the injury bug, missing the last three matches. Bill Owings, a Mason-Dixon wrestling champion, and Tom Hutchins, the "Country Squire," managed to stay healthy and turn in top-notch performances. Squire Hutchins had the best record, losing only four matches.

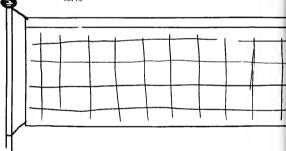

Other members of the team were Scat McIntyre and Al Bryant. Al was injured while engaging in some friendly wrestling.

TRACK AND FIELD

Henry Lichtfuss lets fly with the discus

The 1956-57 winter track season produced some outstanding individual performances despite the fact that the team as a whole was not as successful as teams in other years. The outstanding individual performances were supplied by our two dazzling Dons, Hofler and Pace.

Hofler, called "Mr. Track" at Towson by his coach, Dr. Donald I. Minnegan, gave top performances in the 50 and 60 yard dashes. This despite the fact that an ankle injury in his Junior year nearly ended the track career of the Towson star.

Don Pace, counted on to fill Hofler's shoes in coming years, came through with a remarkable performance in the 880 run. Pace was able to bring his time down from 2:20 to 2:06 for the grinding test. Pace came through with an excellent half mile in the Mason-Dixon Conference Relay Championships.

Winning medals at the M-D championships was the bright spot in the season in so far as the team is concerned. Our boys had little experience prior to this year, and their showing in the championships was certainly encouraging to Dr. Minnegan of better things to come.

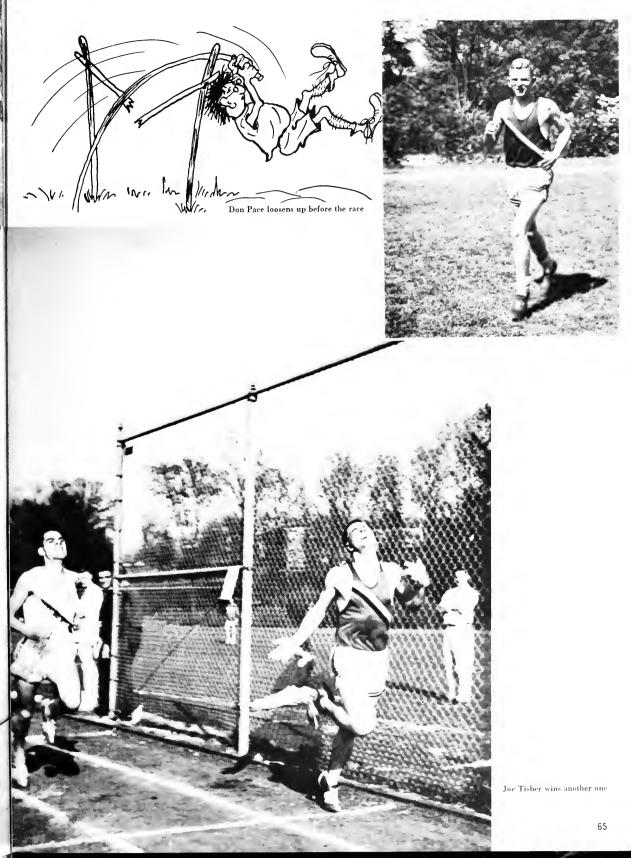

Hofler also led the Spring trackmen in end honors. He broke the pole vault record with an 11 feet 6 effort. Hofler also contributed record performances in the 100, 220, and the low hurdles. William Abby broke the existing high hurdles record, and came within one second of the all-time low hurdles record. Bob Turner broke the Towson record for throwing the shot-put, previously held by Bob Colhurn, with a heave of 41 feet 7 inches. Dave King made a fine showing in the high jump, despite the fact that he had suffered a fractured nose. King broke his nose when the bar fell and hit him. Henry Lichtfuss made great progress in throwing the discuss, moving from 70 feet to 120 feet.

WOMEN'S ELECTIVES

Women's elective sports, always popular with the girls, added golf this year as a springtime sport, bringing the grand total to fourteen different electives offered during the year. In the fall the girls may play hockey, archery, or soccer. With the arrival of cold weather, they move inside to participate in basketball, badminton, modern and folk dancing, swimming at Mergenthaler, and bowling at the Stoneleigh Allies. Tennis, archery, softball, volleyball, lacrosse, and golf are offered in the spring.

Instructions are given at all seven meetings of each elective, enabling the beginners to learn the sport, and the others to improve their games. Points are recorded by W.A.A., and go toward earning the bearer her class numerals, large "T," star, and college jewelry.

Although most of the sports are intramural, teams are formed from the archery, hockey, basketball, bowling, and lacrosse electives to play other nearby colleges. Beginners as well as experienced players are selected to represent Towson on these teams.

The most outstanding team has been the basketball team who lost only three games in four years.

The newly formed J.V. Cheerleaders squad will follow in the footsteps of the present varsity squad. The group includes L. A. Haight, B. Carter, P. Vernay, P. Downey, C. Coakley, J. Plaia, K. Scott and S. Cohan.

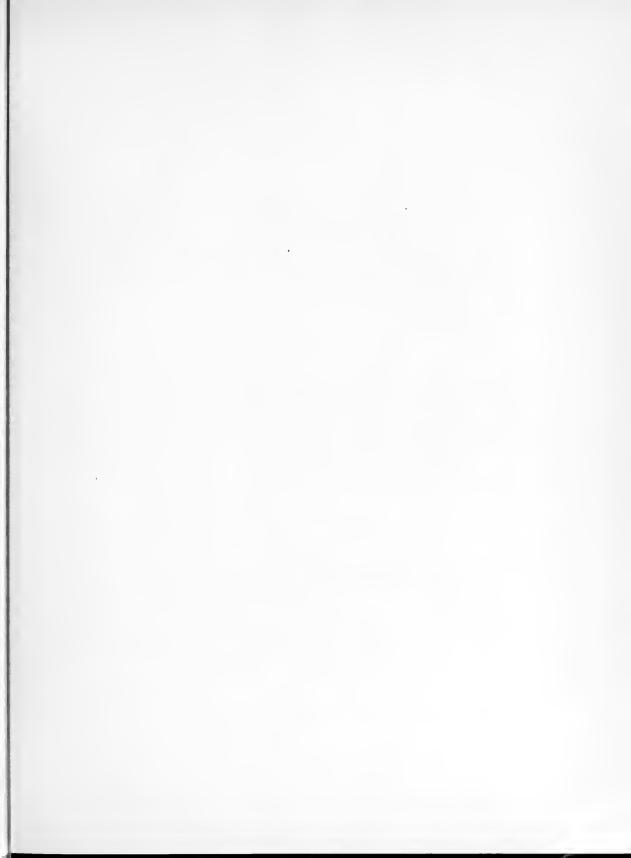

Men's Athletic Association

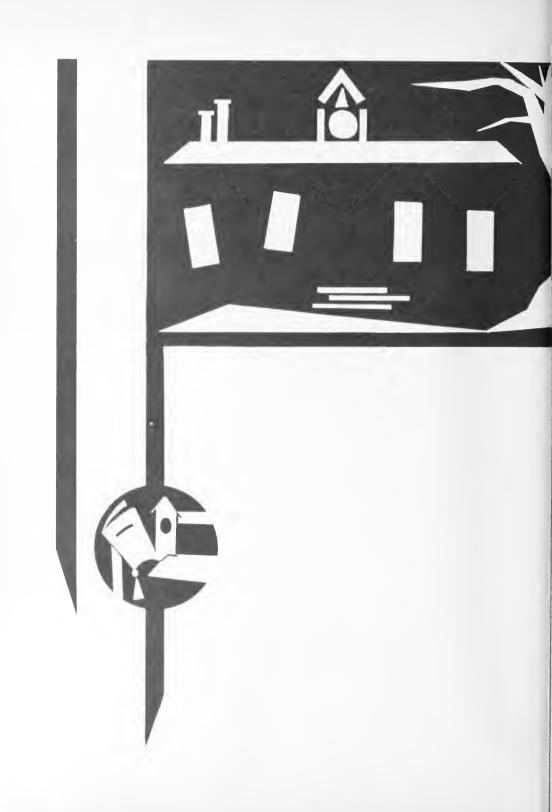

All male students are automatically members of the organization. The student officers of the M.A.A. represent the male members of the student body who are active in athletics—either in the role of spectator or participant. In addition, the officers handle official M.A.A. functions as the annual dance. Three of the members pictured are: seated, A. Bryant, D. Hofler; standing, P. Conley.

MUD AND CONSTRUCTION—progress at S.T.C.

A FRESHMAN IS

Freshmen begin their stay at the college by participating in a crowded week of square dances, plays, parties, and tests. These activities are planned and guided by the F.A.C.—big sisters and brothers to the incoming freshmen. The friendships that are begun, the habits formed, and impressions made are the basic ingredients of this first glimpse of S.T.C.

Elected for their outstanding leadership, scholarship, and service to the school, the Freshman Advisory Council is the force behind this fast moving week. They spend many hours and much muscle in insuring the Freshman an unforgettable introduction to the college.

Dr. Hawkins, the principal speaker, related how our college requirements have changed and how our college compares to other teacher colleges. He expressed the ideas of other institutions, people in the field of education, and brought home to us how important a teachers college is.

INVOCATION

The college year officially opens with the Invocation Assembly. Dr. Hawkins introduced the student body to the new faculty members. The Glee Club and orchestra rendered a few selections.

Dr. Hawkins acquainted new students with the standards of the college, while Seniors smiled to hear him talk of block courses and student teaching.

The second semester opened with the Convocation Assembly. The student body listened to Dr. Hawkins as he explained the need for teachers' colleges.

Freshmen congratulated one another on getting through their first semester, while Seniors smiled and thought—the next assembly's ours.

CONVOCATION

The purpose and principles of education, and how Towson students react, were part of Dr. Hartley's Invocation Message, New students and faculty members were introduced, and welcomed by Dr. Hawkins, the faculty and the student body.

SPOOK NIGHT

Chaos invades the halls of S.T.C. as the traditional day of reckoning for freshmen arrives. The initiation day begins bright and early for the "spooks" at 7:00 sharp. Many upperclassmen enjoy the luxury of breakfast in bed, served by their loyal "servants." Women with no make-up and straight hair, and men looking odd in backward clothes are seen earrying assorted objects through the halls. The evening fun is typified by parading Elvis Presleys, animals, nursery rhyme stories and other clever groups, all competing for honors. When the hectic day ends, the Freshmen can truly feel a part of the college life to which they now belong.

NINETY YEARS"

From the time one entered through the swinging doors 'til they took down the last bit of decoration, "Bustle Bounce," the Senior sponsored dance on Saturday night proved to be a most Enjoyable affair. The highlights of the evening was the crowning of the Homecoming Queen, Mary Wimmer, and her court, Janet Mahaley, Joan Archambault, Carolyn Coakley, Diana Renshaw, Carolyn Williams and Mary Lou Kroh. Homecoming, 1956 proved to be another memorable event for the many Towsonites who attended.

SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

Christmas at Towson is a good time to become filled with the spirit of Christmas Good-will. The S.C.A. begins festivities with a tree-trimming party in Richmond Hall Parlor. Decorating the foyer is organized by the Social Committee of the Women's Residence Council. The girls compete in a door decorating contest, which is judged the night of the Christmas dinner.

The Junior class sponsors the Christmas Dance, called "Winter Waltz," this year, with Joe Dowling's Orchestra. Instead of spending money for a corsage, each couple brings a gift for the Salvation Army and places it under the twenty-four foot high tree.

The night before the dormitories close is a gala occasion. A formal Christmas dinner is held, to which the girls wear evening or cocktail dresses, and the boys wear suits and ties. Each table is decorated by the students for a faculty-judged contest. After dinner, the residence councils hold a Christmas party in the gymnasium which is a wonderful mixture of singing, Santa Claus, gifts, and fun for the underprivileged children. At the close of the evening, the S.C.A. sponsors a caroling party through the Towson area. When the students leave for home, they can remember their Towson Christmas as a time of gaiety sprinkled liberally with giving and good-will.

"Everywhere, Everywhere, Christmas Tonight"—a feeling in every heart as we sit down together for the traditional Christmas Dinner.

SWEETHEART DANCE

Doris and Jack are honored by the 1956 Sweethearts, Margie Sadler and Bill Santman.

The biggest dance of the year, the Sweetheart Dance, is held at the 5th Regiment Armory in February.

Under the chairmanship of Joyce Frizzell and her various committees, plans were early begun in the first semester, in order to insure the success of the dance. The night was clear and the attendance was good. Art Mooney's orchestra provided the instrumental ingredient needed to carry out the theme of the dance.

The main event of the evening was the Sweetheart Contest. After much nervousness, and stress and strain on the part of the contestants, Doris Wimert and Jack Jones were selected as the Sweetheart couple of 1957. Other couples included—Kitty Borchers and Perry Conley, Ann Rogers and Bernie Hartman, Roberta Reed and Jack Lynch, Carole Grim and Don McBrian, Harriette Gampel and Herb August, Pat Hagan and Bill Baily, Gerri Barnes and Don Reck, Peggy Mullican and Nelson Bolender, and Beth Brodken and Stu Davis.

We, the Class of '57, feel especially qualified to write of the Student Centre because we claim the distinctive honor of being the first class to enjoy four full years of Student Centre life.

Aside from the extra-curricular activities held in the Student Centre (class parties, lectures, dances and jam sessions) there are the myriad "unscheduled" events to which the Student Centre is dedicated and to which the Towson student is dedicated. There is the Snack Bar for lunchers and munchers, tables for bridge, pitch, pinochle, etc. enthusiasts, the patio for the sunworshippers, and couches for the sleepy ones. However, the prime function of the Student Centre is manifest in a chair, anywhere and everywhere, preferably squeezed in among several others, which is the four-year home of the true affecinado, the lounger.

"WHAT YOU WILL"

SENIOR ASSEMBLY

Topping off four years of outstanding assemblies, the Senior Class's presentation of "What You Will" combined clever songs, talent, participation, and spirited enthusiasm to produce the best class production of the year.

Using Hoboes and Upper Class Society to contrast the two extremes in life, the Seniors showed us that each individual must decide upon his own life's philosophy.

Under the experienced direction of Jack Lynch, the assembly was presented to both the college and the men at Veterans' Hospital, where it was enthusiastically received.

Jack Lynch, our able and untiring director.

Our little band of hoboes gracefully glided across the stage to the strains of "The Dance of the Hours."

"Well, Did You Evah, What a Swell Party This Is!"

MAY DAY

Nancy Lee Normine MAY QUEEN

JUNE MACAULEY

Maid of Honor

Lida Lee Țall kindergarten children lead the procession, scattering flowers on "The Green".

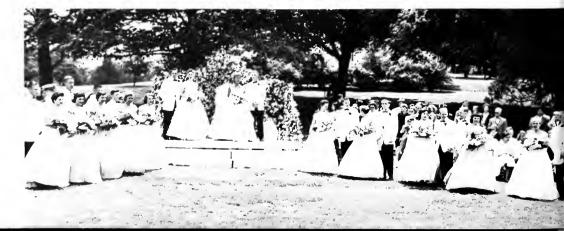

May Pole dancers honor the Queen.

Contrary to the pleas and incantations of Walpurgis Night, a chilly but bright morning ushered in the traditional May Day celebration at Towson State Teachers College. The morning was spent by classes and organizations in the hurried preparation of setting up their respective booths.

After lunch everyone eagerly awaited the presentation of the court and the crowning of our lovely queen, Nancy Normine. Setting a new precedent this year, the girl's escorts awaited them on the platform. Following the crowning ceremony, the queen, her court and their escorts were entertained by music, singing and the traditional May Pole Dance.

Correlated with the theme of Plantation Pageant the dance, entitled "Confederate Cotillion," was held that evening. The gymnasium was bedecked in the fashion of a Southern plantation. The music was furnished by Bill Maisel and his orchestra. May Day proved to be another feather in the cap of the Senior Class.

The Court and their escorts.

FRIENDS AND FROLIC. .

Dressed for rain, running to covered trucks, the seniors began their June Week activities with a hayride, traveling to the Belair Fresh Air Camp. The following day a picnic was held in the student centre and patio. Hot dogs and colored populces added to the friendly atmosphere of hungry seniors. Swimming, boating, sun-bathing and bushels of crabs made the beach party at Rockaway Country Club a tremendous success. Three enjoyable events, despite the rainy weather.

"Mustard, please."

"I have a blue one."

"I'll have two, please."

THE BEACH

"But it's so much work."

Faculty members enjoy the Prom.

Dancing to the music of The Men of Notes, in the ball-room of the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel, the Seniors enjoyed one of the most thrilling events of their four years in college. Formal attire, friends, fun and fond memories—an evening never to be forgotten.

"May I get in this one?"

THE SENIOR PROM...

DINE AND DANCE

Appetizers served in the student centre.

Mr. Duro improvises.

Dancing in the student centre.

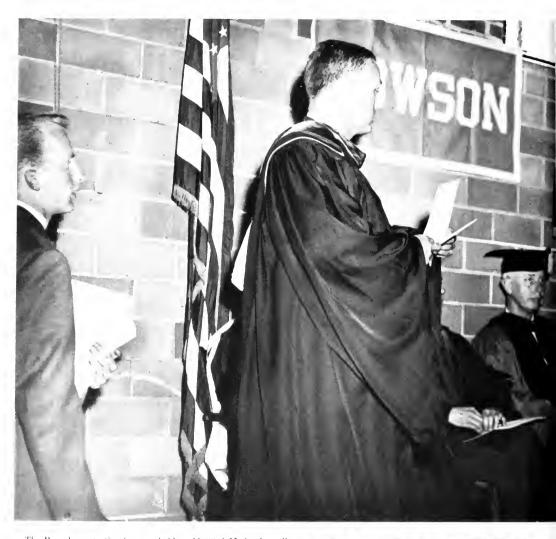

The June Week activities concluded with the President's Dinner in the cafeteria, followed by music in the student centre, rendered by Mr. Duro and Mr. Geriak, and an informal dance—a delightful finis to a memorable week for the seniors.

Seniors are guests of the President.

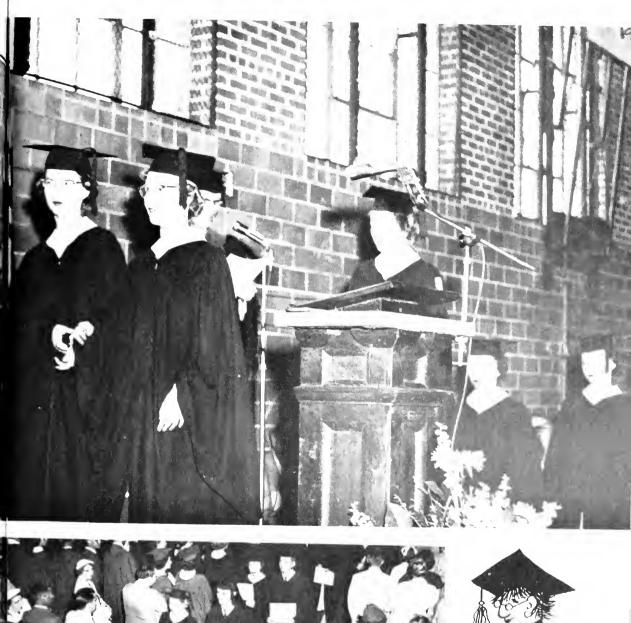

GRADUATION

The Baccalaureate Service was held at 11:00 A.M. in the college auditorium. The sermon was delivered by The Rev. Albert E. Day, of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, Baltimore, The graduation exercises, held for the first time in the college gymnasium, began at 3:00 P.M. The procession began with the college faculty and distinguished guests, followed by the 1957 graduates. The main address was presented by Dr. J. Wendell Yeo, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Boston University, Dr. Kenneth A. Browne, Dean of Instruction, presented the candidates for degrees, conferred by Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, President of the College. The awarding of diplomas was by Jerome Frampton, Jr., Vice President, State Board of Education. One of the largest classes ever to be graduated from Towson State Teachers College—241 seniors were awarded B.S. degrees in education.

The Tower Echoes Staff of 1957 has tried to present, in a colorful and meaningful way, what "our college" has meant to us and our class, and to give a picture of the memorable events of the past year. We have tried to tell "our story" in such a way that it may be enjoyed, and carried into the future as a constant reminder of State Teachers College.

The Editor wishes to thank all those who are responsible for making this book the success we hope it will be. Special thanks go to the Editorial Staff, whose untiring efforts have made the book possible, and also the following staff members: Kitty Borchers, Carole Lee Delp, Bob Petza, Roberta Reed, Ann Thomas, Elinor Gareis, Joan Walters, Gladys Rori, Ruth Sassaman, Jeanine Chapdelaine, Kathy Brown, Ann DeLauder, Stan Wisniewski, Peggy Haase, Iris Langdon, and Mary Lou Kroh.

We hope that next year's staff may have a successful year, and that they will enjoy, as we have, working together to produce Towson's yearbook.

Deadline day draws near.

IN MEMORIAM

DR. LUCY SCOTT

Dr. Lucy Scott, a member of our faculty for 21 years, served as Director of Elementary Education. During these years, she imparted her wisdom and understandings of educational trends to everyone who sought her guidance. In her quiet and unobtrusive manner, Dr. Scott was an inspiring leader. Although she has departed, her ideas and principles are strongly imbedded in the educational field.
